General Information on the Mission

Context

Première Urgence Internationale (PUI) is a non-governmental, non-profit, non-political and non-religious international aid organization. PUI teams are committed to support civilian victims of marginalization and exclusion, or hit by natural disasters, wars or economic collapse, by answering their fundamental needs. Our aim is to provide emergency relief to uprooted people in order to help them recover their dignity and regain self-sufficiency. The Association leads in average 200 projects by year in the following sectors of intervention: food security, health, nutrition, construction and rehabilitation of infrastructures; water, sanitation and hygiene, and economic recovery. PUI provides assistance to around 6 million people in 23 countries – in the Caribbean, Africa, Asia, Middle East, Eastern Europe and France.

Afghan Mission is the oldest PUI mission with the first medical intervention launched in 1980 just after the Soviet invasion. Since then, Afghanistan has mostly been in conflict, with national armed groups and international forces that is causing mass casualties and massive movements of population within or out of the country. According to IOM Displacement Tracking Matrix (DTM), the total number of displaced population for the period 2012-2019 that currently live in host communities reached 4,350,900 individuals. The same time, the country has witnessed a strong wave of returnees from abroad at 3,451,510 people. This latter figure is expected to grow further in 2020 as large numbers of Afghans have fled the COVID-19 outbreak from neighboring countries (mainly from Iran). The high number of returns put additional pressure on host communities, fragile livelihoods and public services that are already strained by conflict and economic underperformance.

The achievements realized in the years following 2001 invasion are now jeopardized by the intensification of conflict and violence and fragile governance. Indeed, due to the increase of the attacks, casualties, displacements and consequently, of the acute needs, the United Nations reclassified Afghanistan conflict from a protracted to an active one. Armed groups are threatening the Government of Afghanistan that struggles to impose its vision of development despite continuous extended military, financial and political support, nationally and internationally.

As Afghanistan continues to face an extremely complex humanitarian challenges, the country remains one of the world’s largest refugee crisis. According to the World Bank data, by end of 2018, the number of Afghans refugees stood at close to 2.7mln, following only the Syrian crisis.

In the current context, with elevated pressure on aid organizations by different actors, fragmented conflict that happens to a large extent away from urban centers, the capacity to deliver aid to those in need is particularly challenging. Access to remote areas is volatile, with military offensive and/or threats, expulsion by armed groups that cause agencies to suspend their operations at times. Health actors are particularly at risk as attacks on health facilities and staff continue to happen across the country with a visible intensity in areas where PUI operates.

In 2020, the COVID-19 pandemic advanced the crisis even further. Humanitarian Needs Overview (HNO) expects now 14mln of Afghans, or 37% of the country’s population, in need for assistance. This figure is revised upward from 9.4mln estimated earlier in 2020 and from 6.3mln in 2019.
PUI’s Strategy in the Country

PUI orient its programs on addressing the fundamental needs of the Afghan populations through provision of assistance based on humanitarian principles and aligned with the concept of do no harm. Indeed, neutrality and impartiality are the key in order to enable humanitarian access to the affected communities, in particular in remote areas and territories contested or under control of the armed groups. PUI interventions are implemented in a coordinated manner and demonstrate a strong support and co-ownership of the stakeholders and beneficiaries. Grass root approach and engagement of communities is possible as PUI maintains acceptance and relationships locally for years, and involves stakeholders in all stages of its actions from design of activities to community-based feedback mechanism and other accountability instruments.

Over the past 40 years of response in Afghanistan, PUI has delivered health and nutrition assistance with aim to reduce morbidity and mortality in vulnerable populations. The Organization contributed to the reconstruction of the health system and expansion of access to quality health services across 11 provinces altogether.

Until now, health remains PUI strong expertise in the country and the entry point to implement the integrated approach that combines primary health care, nutrition, sexual and reproductive health, maternal health, hygiene and sanitation, and increasingly psychosocial support. Since 2013, PUI has started interventions on emergency preparedness and trauma services to conflict-affected populations. As Afghanistan became the world’s deadliest conflict in 2018 with 59% annual increase in terrorism-related deaths, it is indeed crucial to maintain capacity to respond to mass casualties and/or populations displaced suddenly.

In terms of geographical coverage, PUI increasingly orients its operations to remote areas and territories contested or under the control of the armed groups.

Programmatic Objectives for 2019-2021

In the period of 2019-2021, PUI has remained aligned with the efforts to date, and continues ensuring access to quality health services through both mobile and static facilities. The Agency also increasingly prioritizes the needs related to mental health not only among vulnerable populations at large but also among humanitarian community exposed to traumatic events in their daily work. Other active sectors of interventions involve nutrition, WaSH, mainstreamed protection and cash-based assistance. PUI considers further expansion to complementary areas for instance food security and livelihoods.

History of the Mission and current Programs

Prior to the merger with Première Urgence (PU), Aide Médicale Internationale (AMI) had been present and known among local populations in Afghanistan since 1980 for health programs. To be noted that PUI continues operating in Afghanistan under the logo and name of PU-AMI. Currently the Organization is implementing the following programs in the eastern provinces of Nangarhar, Kunar, Laghman and Nuristan:

Health:

Focuses on provision of access to quality primary health care services through mobile and static clinics. Through mobile health teams (MHTs), communities are provided with primary health care consultations, malnutrition diagnosis and treatment, vaccination, ante- and postnatal care, hygiene promotion and general health education, as well with psychosocial support. Additionally, PUI also provides with cash for referral to higher health facilities for complicated severe malnutrition cases, cases requiring additional mental health support and to promote institutional deliveries. In static facilities, PUI supports trauma posts oriented on specialized services to care for victims of conflict activities or other major or minor traumas. PUI is currently operating 2 ambulances to shift patients from trauma posts to higher health facilities. In other health facilities, including two hospitals in Jalalabad, PUI provides for nutrition and sexual and reproductive health care.

Nutrition:

Malnutrition remains at dangerously high levels across Afghanistan, and PUI currently integrates a nutrition component (diagnosis, treatment, education and referral of complicated severe malnutrition cases to higher health facilities) with other healthcare activities. In terms of geographical coverage, nutrition services are being provided in particular in remote areas where access to healthcare system is reduced or non-existent.

Psychosocial Support:

Psychological trauma remains difficult to quantify due to low reporting, diagnosis and overall low quality of available services, though the likelihood of significant portion of the population suffering mental health issues is to be high or very high as the conflict continues for now four decades and poverty is deepening across the country. PUI integrates and provides the psychosocial support at community-level and in health facilities, for now mainly in the form of awareness, individual sessions and referrals (distribution of cash for transportation/referral). Furthermore, first as a pilot project, and now at a broader scale, PUI has developed a Psychological First Aid (PFA) package deployed at the First Aid Trauma Posts (FATPs) and with aim to provide for immediate psychological relief to those who suffered a major trauma.

WaSH:

In complement to the implementers of Basic Health Care Package and Essential Package of Hospital Services at the health facilities level, PUI provides for the rehabilitation of water supply and sanitation infrastructure making sure that gender inequalities are addressed. PUI also ensures health facilities in remote areas have access to clean water through boreholes drilling powered with solar energy. Furthermore, in communities, the Organization provides hygiene awareness enhanced by the distribution of hygiene kits.

COVID-19 Outbreak:

Since March 2020, and in close collaboration with a variety of stakeholders and actors, PUI has been actively engaged in preparedness and mitigation of the progressing COVID-19 outbreak with main objective to interrupt or slow down the chains of transmission. Infection prevention control (IPC) support to PUI-run MHTs and health facilities is being strengthened through training, provision of materials and equipment, as well as implementation of a number of relevant protocols. In remote areas, PUI introduced and reinforced the risk communication in order to raise understanding of the viral disease and reduce rumors. Furthermore, the Organization enhanced its psychosocial assistance services to cover distress related to COVID-19 including stigmatization.
